9 MEET AND CONFER

10 I contacted Ms. Kamath by email on May 1 to begin the meet and confer process. Ms.
11 Kamath responded by email that she was going to file an amended complaint “shortly” and that 12 she would be “happy to provide a brief extension of time via stipulation” for my May 16 responsive 13 pleading deadline.

14 On May 3, I sent Ms. Kamath a proposed stipulation to extend Defendants’ responsive
15 pleading deadline 28 days from May 16 to June 13 so that she would have additional time to file
16 an amended complaint before Defendants had to respond to her complaint. On the stipulation, I 17 typed in both of our names on the signature lines, emailed it to her, and asked her if it was okay to 18 file. On May 4, Ms. Kamath responded by email that I “forged” her signature, broke the law, and 19 that she would give me an extension until July 5 because her amended complaint would not be 20 finished until “end of May 2023.” I responded by email on May 4 that I only asked her if it was 21 ok to file the stipulation, I did not forge her signature, that the local rules do not allow us to stipulate
22 to an extension until July 5 without an order, and that I needed to know whether I had her 23 permission to file the stipulation for more time. Ms. Kamath responded by email on May 4 that 24 she was contemplating a lawsuit against me for forgery and that she would be “filing the 25 AMENDED COMPLAINT until END OF MAY 2023.” I responded asking her to clarify whether 26 I had her permission to file the stipulation for more time and she did not respond.

1 On May 8, 2023, I emailed Ms. Kamath the arguments and authority contained in the 2 motion to dismiss and asked her to provide a response.

3 On May 8, 2023, she responded by email, would not voluntarily dismiss any of her claims,
4 and stated that she was available to meet and confer telephonically that week. On May 8, I 5 responded that she was forcing me to file the motion to dismiss because she would not agree to the 6 stipulation for more time, I asked her again if she would, and asked if she was available for a phone 7 call the next day. On May 8, she responded by email that she would be editing the stipulation and 8 reiterated her claim that I committed forgery because I sent her the original proposed stipulation
9 with her signature typed in and asked her if it was okay to file. I never received a phone call from 10 her or any response to my invitation for a phone call.

11 On May 12, she emailed me that I had not responded “to your forgery” and that she would 12 be amending the complaint. She did not send a revised stipulation for more time or agree to allow 13 me to file the original stipulation. On May 12, I responded by email that she still had not provided 14 authorization for the stipulation to be filed or provided an alternative and therefore was forcing me
15 to file a responsive pleading by the May 16 deadline. I hereby certify that meet and confer efforts 16 have been exhausted.

17 I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.
